

BIG NEWS

Randy Orlando has joined the UCC team!

Meet Randy!

For more than ten years, I have enjoyed working in the promotional marketing industry. I've had the opportunity to work with many customers to help them grow their business through promotional branding primarily in glassware, apparel and promotional products. I enjoy partnering with my customers to help them increase their knowledge of our product lines while providing creativity, innovation and product expertise to help guide them on promotional decisions to increase brand awareness and grow their sales.

My customers tell me I am very friendly and easy to work with. I am known for my customer service from the start of a project to when the order ships out the door. I will be there every step of the way!

I enjoy sitting down with my customers to go over all the new product choices to brand your swag and merchandise!

I look forward to putting my years of experience to work for you and helping you grow your business.

Did you know that promo products are the most cost-effective, highest impact advertising medium for your business? From pens to polo shirts, most businesses buy logoed products to promote their brand, and consumers are nearly 2.5x more likely to have a positive opinion of promotional products compared to internet advertising. Here are just a few of the thousands of items available.
